

12 Dec 83

RE:AUTOMATICITIES

There are several automaticities of creation that a being can be the effect of.

The ability to create is native to a being. When the being ceases to consider that he or she can create and places responsibility or authorship of creation on another person or thing, that ability to create is "lost" and goes onto "automatic" creation.

One instance of this is the creation of mental image pictures. When the being creates these knowingly they are called mock ups. When mental image pictures are created "unknowingly" or "automatically" these are called facsimiles and as the being has assigned other authorship of these, they are no longer under his control or causation.

When the person ceases to automatically mock up facsimiles or cognites that he or she has been mocking them up, the state of clear has been attained.

There are other automaticities of creation which include automaticities of TIME, SPACE, ENERGY & MATTER. These are handled higher than clear.

Clear is simply the state of cogniting that one has been mocking up mental image pictures - or ceasing to do so. (There is a lower inversion where a being can become too low in energy to mock up automatically and becomes inert as a being.)

---

<sup>1</sup> Advanced Ability Center, a network of delivery centres in the Freezone established by David Mayo, a former Senior C/S of the CofS